

THE CALEDONIAN.

LOCAL AND STATE ITEMS.

ST. JOHNSBURY, VT., FRIDAY, MAY 3, 1897.

We endeavor to make the Caledonian valuable to our readers, and our friends in Caledonia, Essex and Orleans counties, by giving a full and complete account of all the news of the State and Nation, and by adding very interesting and reliable information to our local news. We are glad to receive from our friends and subscribers all the news of the State and Nation, and by adding very interesting and reliable information to our local news.

Brief Locals.

The examination of teachers for the towns of St. Johnsbury, Concord and Waterford, are all next Saturday.

The firm of Hutchinson & Corser, clothing dealers here for the past four years, is dissolved by the withdrawal of Mr. John H. Hutchinson. Mr. B. G. Corser continues the business at the old place.

O. C. Bolton is ready to secure the shadows of the West Concord people. See his advertisement.

Town superintendents of schools will find a neat blank for Teachers' Licenses at this office, for twenty cents per dozen.

After the paper has run three weeks over the year, the postmaster at Danville writes to Mr. Wm. Deane, who has taken the Caledonian from that office. That way of stopping a paper has about played out.

There was a substantial benefit given to Mr. Goss in the concert by the Band on Friday evening last, the receipts amounting to $111.00—expenses out $10—giving the beneficiary $101. The band gave another concert to-morrow night, May 3d.

April was a very cold month, and the season is yet very backward. May-day there was a warm rain, which will have a good effect upon the grass and the roads.

During Wednesday night there was a hard rain, and Thursday morning the hills about us were white with snow. But little has been done in the way of farming and gardening, as the ground is too cold and wet to work.

A despatch from West Burke informs us that the rain last night raised the streams so as to do damage. The bridge across the Passumpsic at East Burke is swept away, and also one at White's mill, two miles above East Burke.

Narrow Escape.

As the train from Lyndon Monday night was approaching Mr. Lambert Hastings' house, in this place, Joseph Willmarth, unconscious of the fact, drove out from Mr. Hastings' yard, on Wright & Penniman's express wagon, as he came on to the crossing he discovered the engine just upon him. He leaped from the wagon, and escaped unhurt. The engine striking the wagon, detached it from the horse and broke it into a thousand pieces. The horse had just crossed the track and received no injury. There was no whistle sounded or bell rung to announce the approach of the train, and the horse obstructs the view of the track north, until one is almost upon the crossing. It is no unusual thing for the firemen to neglect to ring their bells in this place, and some of Mr. Hastings' family have several times barely escaped a violent death through this negligence.

Methodist Appointments.

The following appointments were made by the Methodist conference at Newbury two weeks ago: Presiding elder, Israel Luce, St. Johnsbury, E. A. Titus, St. Johnsbury Centre, H. T. Jones, East St. Johnsbury, to be supplied; Lyndon and Kirby, G. H. Bickford, J. B. Whitney, Sheffield, Sutton, Newark, N. W. Aspinwall, A. Howard, East Burke, R. L. Barrow, Barton, C. Taber, Barton Landing, to be supplied; St. Wiggins; Glover to be supplied; East Brownington, East Charleston, M. R. Chase, Irasburgh, to be supplied by H. Fowler; Albany, J. Stanley; Craftsbury, J. N. Bonis; Hardwick, C. Fals; Walden and Noyesville, P. N. Granger, second one to be supplied; Danville, O. F. Jenkins; Peacham, O. M. Boutwell; Groton, J. C. Cox; Newbury, H. A. Spencer; Melrose Falls, to be supplied; Bradford, H. F. Forest; West Bradford, to be supplied by G. F. Wells; North Thetford and Fairlee, G. S. Haynes; Concord and Waterford, G. S. Maxwell; Lunenburg, K. Hadley; Victory, Concord and Granby, to be supplied by C. S. Hamilton; Guildhall, J. McDonald; Bloomfield, to be supplied; Rolland and Morgan, C. D. Ingraham; Derby, to be supplied by R. N. Johnson; Newport, M. Ballard; Westfield, J. W. Spencer.

Island Pond.

Mr. Octave Bourdeau, a brakeman on a freight train, fell from the cars and was run over, Wednesday eve, the 24th inst., about four miles north of this place. He was not missed till the train arrived here. He was found dead next morning, lying with both legs across the rail, three other trains having passed over him besides the one from which he fell. He probably fell some hours after the accident until he was found. He leaves a wife and two children.

The hills are still white with snow, the weather damp and chilly and the spring backward, vegetation having as yet given no perceptible evidence of life. In view of the fact that the weather is so backward, it is not surprising that the custom house at this place. Our custom house is now quite well organized in a military, naval and religious sense.

CHITTENDEN COUNTY.

The new organ for St. Paul's church, Burlington, exhibited for the first time on Sunday, is the finest instrument in the State. It was built for the church at the establishment of W. H. Johnson, Westfield, Mass., at a cost of $4,000.

Camilla Uzo, the queen of violinists, is to give concerts at Burlington May 8th and 9th. She is probably the most wonderful player of the violin in this country at least. We believe other musicians are to be assisted in the concerts, the whole being under the direction of Mr. P. S. Gilmore of Guilford's band notoriety.

ORLEANS COUNTY.

Mr. R. M. Kimball has been removed by Gen. Stannard from the office of Inspector, and Chas. W. Smith appointed in his place. Mr. Kimball was removed from the postmaster at Barton two or three weeks ago. He will think misfortune never come singly.

A serious accident occurred in Craftsboro one day last week, by which a little daughter of Ira Davis, seven years old, in attempting to use an old fashioned straw cutter cut off three fingers from her right hand.

The citizens of Newport are stirring themselves to provide a site for the new custom house which the government will erect for them if such site is secured. They want to raise $1200.

Nelson Pierce, who ran away with A. Benjamin's team, at Salem, was caught in Canada, and is now in Irasburgh jail.

Rumor says there is trouble between the Passumpsic railroad Co. and West Derby. The R. R. Co. run their track across the highway bridge that leads to Concord, the two bridges forming a sort of letter X. The Derbys don't propose to have their inalienable rights a-bridged in this manner—so the employees of the town are engaged in planning over the railroad track and guarding the highway bridge, while the R. R. Co. amuse themselves by tearing their work to pieces.

The Ecclesiastical Council, called at Irasburgh last Tuesday to consider the request of Rev. J. H. Woodward for dismission, declined to advise the surrender of his relations to his church, and expressed the desire that he will cordially remain in his present place.

Mr. Daniel Kent of East Wallingford, on Saturday evening last, started to go to the place where his husband was boiling sap, but, becoming bewildered, lost her way. Her cries were heard by several persons, but were not recognized as proceeding from a human being. She at last succeeded in getting within about twenty rods of her home, when she fell from exhaustion, and was found dead on Sunday morning.

Mr. Martin Leonard of Pittsford from eight hens raised last year forty-five chickens, sold seven hundred and ten dozen eggs for $162, besides using one hundred and ten dozen in his family. Mr. L. says his hens are a greater source of profit to him than his sheep. Can any one in this vicinity tell a bigger "egg story" and have it true?—St. Albans Messenger.

We don't think they can. As near as we can figure, Mr. Leonard's biddies must have laid an egg every seven hours, night and day, week days and Sundays, in the year, to bring about the above surprising result, "and have it true."—Burlington Press.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Walton's Daily gives an account of a homicide, or something worse, at Montpelier: At about midnight of Wednesday, April 24th, Patrick Gibbons, a young Irishman of about 40 years, was killed by a stab. There had been a dance at Village Hall, at which Gibbons and other Irishmen were present looking on. Two Irishmen living here, and three young men from abroad left the hall about midnight when Gibbons seized a chair and followed them down State Street to the space between the American House and D. Dewey & Co.'s store, where, within perhaps five minutes after leaving the hall Gibbons was killed. An investigation is now being made, so we refrain from giving the rumors of the street, except the well authenticated one, to wit, that the Irishman had drunk enough to make them ugly. This is the third death by violence in Montpelier since the settlement of the town, and liquor was the cause in each instance. The first person killed was a negro at the old tavern stand, long since removed, known as the Eaton tavern. The other two victims were Irishmen, Corigan and Gibbons. Gibbons left a family.

In a late date, Walton's paper mentions and adds to its former statement: The name of the man killed on Wednesday night was Patrick Fitzgibbon, an employee on the railroad, residing near this village. It is remarkable that his father was suddenly killed on the Central railroad, at Sandusky station. The examination of Mr. F.'s body showed a stab, clear through the heart and touching the liver. A single blow doubtless resulted in instant death. Up to the time of writing this, the examination of every body, likely to throw light upon the affair, has been so far private that only a few have been admitted. It is probable that sufficient will be elicited to warrant a public examination, when, of course, the facts developed will be made known. We suspect that two theories prevail outside of the examining magistrates, which are that Fitzgibbon was killed in self-defense by some one he assaulted with the chair; or that in the darkness, he was killed through mistake by one of his friends. The body was found by the side of the chair. On Saturday public examination of one of the three young men was commenced with a view of determining whether he shall be held to appear at the County Court. Five persons only left the hall a few minutes preceding the killing of Fitzgibbon. Three of these were strangers, agents of Boston and New York houses. They say that they remonstrated with the two Irishmen, when, to avoid a disturbance, in the hall, the three young men left, and the two Irishmen followed them—Patrick Fitzgibbon and Martin Costello, a brother-in-law of the latter, who were the worse for liquor, came into the hall and took seats near Mr. Swasey and his friends. Fitzgibbon and Costello made some loud talk, and Mr. Swasey tried to quiet them. This naturally made them more noisy, and Fitzgibbon threatened to "kick" Swasey, when, for the purpose of getting him out of the hall, Swasey told him to come out doors and fight if he wanted to. Swasey, Wasserober and Chapman then left the hall and the Irishmen followed, Swasey taking a chair which he threw at the Irishmen as they were coming down the steps. Swasey and his two comrades then ran towards the Pavilion, followed by Fitzgibbon with the chair and Costello. Wasserober and Chapman reached the

A Painful case of Piles, April 18, 1897.

I wish to spread abroad the great benefit I have derived from the use of Dr. Harrison's Pile Ointment. I have suffered years of the worst Piles, so much that it was a burden. I used everything to no purpose until I found the Lozenges; in less than a month I was cured, and have every reason to believe when cure is effected, and always find instant relief.

Yours truly,
G. H. NEAL.

An Effective Worm Medicine.

Vermeil's Worm Ointment, or Worm Lozenges—Much sickness, undoubtedly, with children and adults, attributed to worms, is occasioned by worms. The Vermeil's Worm Ointment, or Worm Lozenges, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child. This valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians and found to be safe and sure in eradicating worms, so harmful to children. Children having worms require immediate attention, as neglect of the trouble often causes prolonged sickness. Symptoms of worms in children are often overlooked. Worms in the stomach and bowels cause an irritation, which can be removed only by the use of a sure remedy. The combination of ingredients used in Vermeil's Worm Ointment is such as to give the best possible effect with safety. CURTIS & BROWN, Proprietors, New York. Sold by all dealers in medicines at 25 cents a box. (Inj. 15/67)

Dr. Schenck's New Office.

Dr. J. H. SCHENCK of Philadelphia, has opened an office on Second Street, at the corner of the old New York Hotel, where he will be professionally every Wednesday, from 9 to 3 o'clock, and on Saturdays, from 10 to 12 o'clock. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, and has been practicing medicine for over 20 years. He is a member of the American Medical Association, and has been elected to the office of President of the same. He is a man of great skill and experience, and his office is well equipped with all the latest appliances. He is a man of great skill and experience, and his office is well equipped with all the latest appliances.

Life Insurance.

Mr. E. E. SARGENT, agent of the New York Life Insurance Company, of Hartford, Conn., for the counties of Essex, Caledonia and Orange, has established an office with Dr. G. B. Ballard, on Main Street, this town, where he will be happy to give information pertaining to life insurance.

WINDHAM COUNTY.

Louis Dietrich, a German 48 years of age, having a wife and several children living at West Brattleboro, killed himself on Tuesday afternoon with a pistol shot. He practised firing at a mark for some time, then went to his house, repaired to his chamber, undressed himself, lay down on his bed, bolstered himself up and then discharged his pistol into his head and ended his earthly existence. Disappointment in regard to business matters is assigned as the probable cause.

WINDSOR COUNTY.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Waller of Bethel, lately celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage with a golden wedding. Of half-dozen children only three are living, and only one of these was present. Mr. David Waller, the well-known veteran conductor on the Boston and Worcester railroad. Among the others present was a delegation of the officers and conductors of the Worcester road, who left the complex a purse of $100 in gold, and Mr. James Parker, a veteran conductor on the Western railroad, and others sent appropriate and valuable gifts. The occasion was one of much interest.

STATE AT LARGE.

On Wednesday evening, about 9 o'clock as a freight train was passing over the Sullivan road, eight miles from Bellows Falls, an axle broke throwing six of the cars from the track. One of them rolled 16 horses, five of which were killed and eight badly injured, one of them probably beyond recovery. They were all valuable animals, and one of those killed had been sold for $600.
